Background

This report is being issued belatedly due to technical challenges faced by the Funeral Assurance sector in transitioning to the International Financial Reporting Standard (IFRS) 17, which became effective on 1 January 2023. The implementation of IFRS 17 required significant system and process adjustments across the Funeral Assurance sector, resulting in delays in compiling and submitting IFRS 17-compliant returns for the second quarter of 2025. Despite these challenges, the Insurance and Pensions Commission (IPEC) remains committed to providing stakeholders with accurate and comprehensive insights into the performance of the Funeral Assurance sector for the second quarter of 2025. This report reflects the latest available data and regulatory developments, ensuring transparency and alignment with international best practices.

Section C | ECONOMIC
OVERVIEW

SECTION B: ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

3 ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

3.1 Domestic Outlook

- 3.1.1 The second quarter of 2025 was marked by a sustained path of macroeconomic stability, characterised by continued disinflation, a stable exchange rate, and strong foreign currency inflows.
- 3.1.2 This trajectory was underpinned by tight monetary policies by the Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe (RBZ), improved electricity generation at Kariba Hydro-Power Station, and robust agricultural recovery.
- 3.1.3 The Government has remained committed to advancing structural reforms and strengthening fiscal discipline. These efforts are expected to consolidate the macroeconomic stability achieved so far and foster a more predictable environment, which is essential for sustaining economic growth in the second half of the year.
- 3.1.4 In the context of the Insurance sector, the growth is anticipated to broaden the revenue base, improve coverage potential, and reduce systemic risk. With a stronger fiscal position and improved private sector credit access, confidence in long-term financial instruments such as insurance continues to firm up.

3.2 Global Outlook

- 3.2.1 During the first half of 2025, global economic performance was shaped by a mix of recovery momentum and emerging risks. According to the Mid-Term National Budget Review, global economic growth is now projected at 2.8%, down from the 3.2% forecast made in October 2024.
- 3.2.2 The downward revision is a result of the anticipated increases in trade tariffs and geopolitical tensions in Europe and the Middle East.

- 3.2.3 Sub-Saharan Africa's economic momentum has softened, with growth now projected at 3.8%, down from an earlier estimate of 4.2% in October 2024.
- 3.2.4 In a similar trend, the Southern African Development Community (SADC) is expected to grow by just 2.8% in 2025, revised downward from the earlier projection of 3.3%.
- 3.2.5 These revisions highlight the region's vulnerability to both global shocks and internal structural challenges, reinforcing the urgency for national economic resilience and investment in climate-proof growth strategies.

3.3 Domestic Macroeconomic Developments

- 3.3.1 During the second quarter of 2025, the economy recorded steady macroeconomic gains, largely attributed to the impact of sustained policy reforms and structural adjustments implemented over the past year.
- 3.3.2 A significant development during the period was the completion of the GDP rebasing exercise by ZIMSTAT, which revised the size of the economy from US$35.2 billion in 2024 to approximately US$45.7 billion. This upward revision also raised GDP per capita to above US$3,000, thereby reinforcing Zimbabwe's progression towards upper-middle-income status by 2030.
- 3.3.3 The revised sectoral composition of the economy reflects increased diversification, with manufacturing (15.3%), mining and quarrying (14.5%), financial and insurance services (10.8%), and agriculture (9.3%) emerging as the leading contributors to national output.
- 3.3.4 This structural shift is indicative of the growing importance of value-added sectors, which collectively enhance the country's productive capacity and fiscal planning framework.

3.3.5 Furthermore, the overall stability achieved in the second quarter was supported by the continuation of tight monetary and fiscal coordination, which created a conducive environment for sustained growth and investment.

3.4 Inflation Developments

3.4.1 During the first half of 2025, Zimbabwe experienced relative stability in monthly inflation trends.

3.4.2 Month-on-month inflation, measured in ZWG, averaged around 0.5%, reflecting the effectiveness of the Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe's tight monetary policy stance.

3.4.3 However, on a year-on-year basis, inflation increased from 85.7% in April to 92.5% in June 2025, a trend largely attributed to the statistical base effect stemming from currency reforms implemented in 2024. This elevated annual inflation is expected to moderate significantly at the beginning of October 2025, as the base effect subsides and the monetary discipline is maintained.

3.5 Exchange Rate Developments

- 3.5.1 The observed price stability during the period under review was strongly supported by a stable exchange rate environment.
- 3.5.2 The interbank rate on the Willing Buyer Willing Seller (WBWS) on the foreign exchange market averaged US$1: ZWG26.66 throughout the six months of the year.
- 3.5.3 This sustained exchange rate stability was a direct outcome of foreign exchange market reforms and strategic interventions by RBZ, which helped narrow the parallel market premium and improved price discovery.
- 3.5.4 The consistent performance of the exchange rate played a critical role in anchoring inflation expectations and maintaining macroeconomic stability.

3.6 Zimbabwe Stock Exchange (ZSE)

- 3.6.1 The performance of the ZSE during the period under review reflected improved investor sentiment and increased trading activity, partly driven by macroeconomic stability and the continued consolidation of the ZWG currency. The following key developments evidenced this:

- 3.6.2 The aggregate market capitalisation of the ZSE rose from ZWG 58.41 billion in April to ZWG 60.97 billion in June 2025, indicating renewed interest in equities and improved confidence in local asset valuations.
- 3.6.3 Turnover on the Zimbabwe Stock Exchange (ZSE) continued an upward trajectory in the second quarter of 2025, recording a total of ZWG 1.40 billion, up from ZWG 951.29 million in Q1. This growth in trading activity reflects improved investor sentiment, increased liquidity, and sectoral rotation among institutional investors.
- 3.6.4 The ZSE All-Share Index continued to exhibit volatility over the period, reflecting investor responses to evolving economic fundamentals, exchange rate movements, and company-specific disclosures.

3.7 Victoria Falls Stock Exchange Market (VFEX)

- 3.7.1 The performance of the VFEX during the second quarter of 2025 exhibited signs of contraction, reflective of both global and domestic market conditions, as well as investor sentiment following monetary tightening and exchange rate adjustments.
- 3.7.2 The VFEX recorded a decline in market capitalisation to US$1.250 billion in June 2025, down from US$1.33 billion in Q1 2025. This movement aligns with broader capital market trends outlined in the 2025 Mid-Term Budget, where investor risk appetite appeared to moderate in response to a more stable ZWG exchange rate, declining inflation, and cautious reallocation of capital by institutional investors.
- 3.7.3 During the second quarter of 2025, total turnover on the VFEX amounted to US$14.83 million, reflecting subdued trading activity compared to the US$58.5 million recorded in Q1 of 2025. The total volume traded stood at 72.67 million shares, indicating a marginal increase in transactions but lower-value trades, consistent with prevailing investor caution and sectoral rebalancing.

3.7.4 The low activity on VFEX reflects the tighter financial conditions, including lower budget deficits and improved debt levels.

3.7.5 Although VFEX is still essential for US$ investments and foreign listings, the Q2 performance shows the need for stronger coordination in capital markets, clear fiscal policies, and stable exchange rates to attract more investors.

Section D

PERFORMANCE OF FUNERAL ASSURANCE COMPANIES

4 Performance in Terms of Business Written

- 4.1 The Funeral Assurance sector recorded nominal consolidated Insurance Revenue of ZWG125.4 million for the half year ended 30 June 2025, which was equivalent to US$4.7 million at the prevailing exchange rate.
- 4.2 The total foreign currency insurance revenue across the funeral assurance players grew significantly by 52.6% from US$3.1 million reported in the same period ending 30 June 2024.
- 4.3 A detailed breakdown of the consolidated inflation-adjusted Insurance Revenue per funeral assurer is shown in Table 2 below.

Table 2: Insurance Revenue Per Company

Name of Company	June-25 (ZWG000)	June-25 (US$000)	June-24 (US$000)	Contribution to Total Insurance Revenue
Sunset	1,791.58	66.49	22.54	1%
Foundation Mutual	5,259.05	195.17	106.06	3.9%
First Funeral	19,801.20	734.86	341.06	16%
Vineyard	2,368.06	87.88	80.62	2%
Moonlight	95,738.41	3,553.00	994.76	76%
Ruvimbo	484.88	17.99	20.96	0.1%
Total	125,443.19	4,655.40	1,566.18	100%

5 Earnings

- 5.1 For the period under review, Funeral Assurers reported a combined Insurance service result of ZWG6.87 million, which indicates an underwriting profit made by the funeral assurance sector during the period under review.
- 5.2 The Funeral Assurance sector average combined ratio was 92% for the period ending 30 June 2025, rising from 84% recorded in the same period ending 30 June 2024. While the industry underwriting remains profitable, the 8% increase in combined ratio indicates the erosion of profit margins for the industry, hence the need for effective cash outflow management to ensure industry sustainability.

- 5.3 Profit before and after tax for the period under review was ZWG5.5 million and ZWG7.5 million, respectively.
- 5.4 The funeral industry recorded an average insurance expense ratio of 29%, indicating that 29 cents per premium dollar was allocated towards insurance service expenses separately from claims incurred, an increase from 25%, which was 25 cents per dollar recorded in the same period of 2024.
- 5.5 It is important for all sector players to continuously monitor their insurance service expenses so that they are sustainable.
- 5.6 The industry's average return on assets (ROA) and return on equity (ROE) were both 1% as compared to 7% and 5% reported in 2024, respectively for the period under review, as shown in Table 2 above.
- 5.7 The decrease in ROE and ROA both to 1% suggests that the industry started to record a decline in returns from their assets and ultimately to equity holders, a key measure for sustainability.

6 Liquidity

- 6.1 As at 30 June 2025, liquid assets amounted to ZWG98.92 million (US$3.67 million) compared to US$2.8 million recorded as at 31 December 2024, a year-to-date increase of 31%.
- 6.2 The funeral industry recorded an average current ratio of 1.25 times, an increase from the 0.53 times reported as at 31 December 2024. This improvement shows the industry's improved preparedness to meet short-term obligations.

7 Capitalisation

- 7.1 As at 30 June 2025, five (5) funeral assurers were compliant with the regulatory Minimum Capital Requirement (MCR) of US$500,000 as required by Statutory Instrument 67 of 2025.

- 7.2 The industry recorded a total average capital growth of 38%.
- 7.3 Below are the reported capital positions for the funeral assurers.

8 Asset Quality

- 8.1 Total assets for the sector amounted to ZWG804.92 million as at 30 June 2025, equivalent to US$29.9 million, which was a 2% decrease from US$30 million as at 31 December 2024. This decline was due to a slight exchange rate movement from ZWG25.7985 to ZWG26.7654 per dollar from December 2024 to June 2025, respectively.
- 8.2 The asset base for the sector remained highly concentrated in non-current assets, which constituted 85% of the total assets, demonstrating that the sector's assets were skewed towards funeral service provision, whilst the remaining 15% was in current assets.

8.4 As at 30 June 2025, all Funeral Assurers recorded 0.01% investment in Prescribed assets, hence the whole sector was non-compliant with the minimum Prescribed Asset ratio of 10%, as stipulated in Statutory Instrument 206 of 2019.

8.5 Table 4 below shows the compliance levels with Prescribed Assets for each Funeral Assurance player.

Table 4: Prescribed Assets (PA) Levels as at 30 June 2025

Ruvimbo	-	31,567.03	0.00%
Total/Average	88.12	804,924.30	0.01%

9 Reassurance

- 9.1 None of the six (6) Funeral Assurers had reinsurance arrangements in place during the period ended 30 June 2025.
- 9.2 The Commission, therefore, encourages the sector players to utilize reinsurance as a risk-mitigating tool in case of unexpected spikes in claims.

10 Insurance Contract Surplus

- 10.1 Insurance contracts surplus as at 30 June 2025 amounted to ZWG102.8 million under current assets.
- 10.2 The funeral assurance sector's insurance term contracts are expected to be highly profitable, resulting in a surplus. This situation is attributable to the design of funeral products, which have long-term benefit obligations but are typically priced as annually renewable contracts.

11 Number of policies

- 11.1 As at 30 June 2025, funeral assurers had 119,368 policies, 11% decrease from 133,728 policies as at 31 December 2024.

12 Market Share

- 12.1 For the period under review, Moonlight Funeral Assurance and First Funeral Assurance dominated the Funeral Assurance sector in terms of consolidated Insurance Revenue, with a market share of 76% and 16%, respectively.
- 12.2 The distribution of the market share in terms of consolidated Insurance Revenue for the six (6) Funeral Assurers is shown in Figure 3 below.

Figure 3: Market Share in Terms of Consolidated Insurance Revenue for the Period ended 30 June 2025

12.3 In terms of total assets, the Funeral Assurance sector was dominated by one (1) player, Moonlight Funeral Assurance, with a total market share of 76%. The other five (5) players shared the remaining 24%. This is illustrated in Figure 5 below.

COMPLAINTS HANDLING
AND CONCLUSION

14 Funeral Assurance Sector Complaints

- 14.1 For the quarter ended 30 June 2025, the Commission received twenty-four (24) complaints against the funeral assurers. The Commission managed to resolve in full eighteen (18) of these complaints, whilst six (6) were still in progress by the end of the quarter.
- 14.2 Seven (7) of the complaints were related to unsatisfactory service, eight (8) were for repudiation, and nine (9) were for delays in claim settlements.
- 14.3 The sector players are reminded of the need to adhere to the provisions of Circular 3 of 2024 on timely payment of claims to avoid regulatory sanctions.

15 Conclusion

- 15.1 The Funeral Assurance sector experienced moderate growth in business volumes and maintained underwriting profitability in the first half of 2025. However, the sector players continued to face significant challenges, including a weak liquidity position, poor asset quality diversification, low capital adequacy, persistent non-compliance with Prescribed Asset requirements, and remained highly dominated by a single assurer.
- 15.2 The Commission urges all Funeral Assurers to strengthen governance frameworks, improve liquidity management, diversify asset portfolios, and implement robust risk-based business models to enhance resilience and ensure long-term policyholder protection.
